

Dr. Sean O’Sullivan Consultant Neurologist

In order to provide safe and appropriate care and treatment we must maintain an accurate record of relevant information about you, and may share relevant information with other organisations, such as, the referring doctor or GP, other hospitals/institutions, and health professionals that are involved in your care and treatment. Relevant information about you may also be used to help us to receive payment from your health insurance provider and may be used to arrange relevant medical tests. Dr. O’Sullivan may wish to use your personal information for research but will always ask your permission first. You will not be identified in any published results without your agreement. If you have any concerns about how we share this information, please ask.
